What areas of town should Wenham protect? Should they be protected for open space or used for recreation? Or both?

What kinds of public recreation does Wenham want? Does Wenham need more recreational facilities or different activities?

What are Wenham's most important natural resources? How can we preserve or promote them?

Are the goals and vision statement of the attempted update in 2013 still aligned with community sentiment?

What are the town's priorities over the next seven years?

Wenham's Open Space and Recreation Plan dates from 2001. The Wenham Open Space and Recreation Committee is beginning the much-needed update of the plan for approval by the state. We need your input!

What is an Open Space & Recreation Plan?

An open space and recreation plan is a blueprint for progress; it establishes priorities and identifies actions over a seven-year period that will guide the town on matters involving open space.

Why is it important?

It is a critical tool for creating an inventory of a community's protected land and water areas and for identifying undeveloped parcels. Based on community values and input, all ages have a stake in this plan and everyone can participate in its development.

Help develop your plan for the future of Wenham and its residents. Come to the public forum to provide your input. You can also weigh in through the community survey, which will be compiled from your input and released in early November.
